ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

For the 25th volume of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review, this year's Editorial Board sought to publish pieces giving insight into both the hot button human rights issues, i.e. immigration, and also the oft underserved corners of human rights, i.e. the intersection of disability. The Buffalo Human Rights Law Review's purpose is to both further discussions on popular human rights issues, but also to raise awareness of issues falling into the background. The 2018-2019 Editorial Board has worked hard to present the articles found in the 25th issue, with hopes that the human rights spotlight is broadened to encompass even the most discrete problems we face as a society.

The authors featured in this issue are incredible individuals, each a professional of the highest order. They are dedicated deeply to the topics showcased in their articles. I am extremely appreciative of their trust and their everlasting patience in allowing the Human Rights Law Review to publish their pieces. Thank you to Michael Perlin, Meghan Gallagher, Tamar de Waal, and Eric Rosenthal for your attention, your insight, and your help throughout the editing process.

Volume 25 would not be presented without the tireless heart and unwavering hard work of my fellow Editorial Board members. I could not have asked for a better Editorial Board, and I would not have able to fulfill my duties as Editor in Chief without you. Thank you, Kerri, Carolyn, Emilie, Lindsey Lexi, Bridget, Kaitlin, Chelsea and Chad, a million more times for all you've done for this volume. Without your kind hearts, passionate spirits, and intellect and beyond, Volume 25 would not have been possible. I also would like to thank Professors Tara Melish and Jessica Owley for their guidance throughout this process.

I was given the incredible honor this year of being elected the author of the student publication for Volume 25. Thank you to all those involved in the selection process; I hope that my article serves the discipline well, and that I have made the University at Buffalo School of Law and the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review proud. Finally, I would like to wish the incoming Editorial Board the best of luck as they begin to work on Volume 26 of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review, and commend them for carrying on the legacy of this Law Review.

Thank you for taking the time to read this issue of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review. I hope reading Volume 25 broadens your horizons, inspires your intellect, and deepens your conversations surrounding these important issues.
