

Buffalo Human Rights Law Review

---

Volume 29

Article 7

---

10-3-2023

Acknowledgments

Buffalo Human Rights Law Review

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.law.buffalo.edu/bhrlr>

---

Recommended Citation

Buffalo Human Rights Law Review, Acknowledgments, 29 Buff. Hum. Rts. L. Rev. (2023).

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.law.buffalo.edu/bhrlr/vol29/iss1/7>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Law Journals at Digital Commons @ University at Buffalo School of Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Buffalo Human Rights Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ University at Buffalo School of Law. For more information, please contact lawscholar@buffalo.edu.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Volume 29 of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review is the result of the journal's yearlong search for the highest quality articles addressing contemporary human rights challenges. Consistent with our journal's mission to both stimulate conversation and advance human rights scholarship, we have selected a total of five articles for publication. We are confident that each of the articles our team selected for publication will contribute significantly to the ever-evolving field of human rights law.

The authors showcased in this issue are leading scholars of human rights law whose scholarship will continue to push their respective fields of inquiry forward. Their dedication to their work is apparent and inspiring, and we are honored to publish their pieces. We are so ever appreciative of their understanding of our journal's mission, our editorial process, and their dedication to contributing to it. Thank you to Olusola Adegbite and Olaitan Olusegun, Vidhya Karnamadakala, and Eva Nave, as well as our student contributors, Alexis DiCarlo and Deja Graham, for your trust and everlasting patience.

Volume 29 would not be possible without the utmost dedication from my fellow Editorial Board members. Thank you, Kari, David, Daniel, Jess, Jianan, Susanna, Jenelle, Yomaris, and Kurt, for all you have done to make this volume a reality. I would also like to thank our advisor, Professor Tara Melish, for her invaluable guidance and expertise. This journal could not exist without you, and we sincerely appreciate your dedication to its continued success. Finally, I would like to wish the incoming Editorial Board the best of luck as they begin work on Volume 30 of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review. I am confident they will continue the impressive legacy of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review.

Thank you for taking the time to read this issue of the Buffalo Human Rights Law Review. I hope you find the articles within to be instructive and thought provoking.

Scott Covino
Editor-in-Chief