

10-1-1997

Editor's Note

Buffalo Law Review

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.law.buffalo.edu/buffalolawreview>

Recommended Citation

Buffalo Law Review, Editor's Note, 45 Buff. L. Rev. ix (1997).

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.law.buffalo.edu/buffalolawreview/vol45/iss3/2>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Law Journals at Digital Commons @ University at Buffalo School of Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Buffalo Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ University at Buffalo School of Law. For more information, please contact lawscholar@buffalo.edu.

Editor's Note

The Buffalo Law Review adopted a new format for all citations to Internet sources appearing in our law review. The cites are a hybrid of the Bluebook (16th ed.) and the New Media Citation Guide (NMCG). The NMCG format allows for a pinpoint citation to a specific quote on the web page by using "spot" to denote a search string, which takes the reader to the specific material cited. Alternatively, the Bluebook allows for better clarity in citing to a URL address.

